Scott:

After going thru a full year consisting of install, fall shutdown, and spring turn-up, I wanted to compliment you and your company on a job well done. I was originally going to write this letter during the euphoria of the first few weeks after the installation. Not having to drag hoses around the yard can be quite an exciting thing.

I've worked with several contractors since moving to Aurora in 2001. Your company's professionalism, service level, and quality of work is far superior to anyone else.

At first, I was taken back by your design which had five zones less than your competitors. After the installation, I could see the intelligent thought incorporated into the design. There isn't a spot in my yard that does not receive complete coverage. More heads does not necessarily equate to a better system design.

As I write this at the end of May, I've noticed some of my neighbors who have irrigation systems from other companies that still have not been back to reconnect the RPZ while mine has been available since April.

Please feel free to put me on your your reference list of satisfied customers.
